RALLY-X

Use the Radar to find the Check Points

RALLY-X:
A city rally game with an exciting added car-chase feature. The player has to drive his car through a maze of city streets to clear ten check points placed at random in the streets. A radar screen shows the locations of the check points and chasing cars so the player can plan his strategy. The player can also cause chasing cars to spin out and stall for a moment by throwing out a smoke screen; however, he has to watch his fuel gauge, because the smoke screen consumes much of his ever-decreasing fuel supply.
